

Nigel Aylott Relay – Romsey - 2012

No. 1 Andrew Coles Species: MarathonusDebutus Nickname: Woolies		Comments Marathon training obviously agrees with Woolies, and he knocked out a 2 minute pb at Burnley. Refused to answer whether sub 72 was a chance if he hadn't wasted breath sledging House at every turn. Will karma bite, or will House be left in Woolies' dust once again?	Recent Performances Half mara – 72:05 Half Monafartlek –WTF?
No 2 Stephen Paine Species: ChewbaccasChewb uffetus Nickname: House		Comments While not in career best form, House is still punching out solid times and holds the fastest MMM Tan lap for 2012. Loves the relays and knows value when he sees it. A high performer with two 1sts and a 2nd from his last four relays.	Recent Performances Tan - 11:51 Half – 1:14:28 1500m swim – 28:45
No. 3 David Venour Species: Stepper-offusBrimbankus Nickname: Smoothy		Comments Is age finally catching up with the Smoothest Miler of all or have 2 Oxfam campaigns crippled him as they have a former Milers President? Either way, this AV season Schwarzkopf's poster boy has been a shadow of his former self. Nevertheless a solid tan last week shows that there may be a little life in the old boy yet.	Recent Performances Tan – 12:43 Half – 1:24:10 Brimbank 16km - DNF
No. 4 John Charles Species: OrthoticusBritannicus Nickname: Prince		Comments The young UK podiatrist is known to some Milers as an occasional Job's Jog participant. Though a handy pickup for the Collingwood Harriers, somehow the Collingwood FC let him slip through the crack and he jumped on board the Hawthorn FC juggernaut. His best is very good but is he at his best?	Recent Performances Tan – 13:06 10km – 34:48
No. 5 Norval Hope Species: NoseusTothegroundus Nickname: Lurch		Comments Don't listen to him; Lurch is actually in good form. MM2012 buildup has been very low key and has slipped under many peoples' radars however numbers don't lie and Tan and HM pbs in recent times tell the real story. Good value.	Recent Performances Tan – 13:14 Half – 1:21:29

No. 6 Katie Seibold Species: Fannus of Bobsquarepantus Nickname: Katie		Comments Great to see Romsey squeezed into a busy travel schedule which includes recent trips to New York, Iceland, Sydney and Brisbane! Top 10 on individual times at the AV tan relays. Has shown she has speed, leading the first part of most reps with the Milers! Marathon pedigree and Romsey experience suggests she'll run out the day strongly.	Recent Performances Tan – 13:16 Half – a cruisy 1:30:23
No. 7 Thai Phan Species: OnepaceusAlldayu s Nickname: Snake		Comments Snake? Really? C'mon, surely we can do better than that! Another in solid form but nothing to write home about. A reliable performer, you know what you'll get from Thai and like Licka he will run the day out well.	Recent Performances Tan – 13:50 GC Mara - 2:55:37
No. 8 Tony Hally Species: OneusHandus on Tropheus Nickname: Waterboy		Comments Hasn't missed a beat since GC and will run out the day strongly. May even continue to run between legs as he does between reps at the tan. Just don't come between Tone and his pre-race curry and rice!	Recent Performances Mile h'cap – 1 lap ahead of field Tan – 13:37 GC Mara – 2:58
No. 9 Garth Calder Species: ThelongerusThebet terus Nickname: Licka		Comments The man has given us absolutely nothing to work with over recent times however a few things are certain. He is a mountain goat and will tear up the hilly Romsey course, and will keep getting better as the day goes on.	Recent Performances Tan – 13:42 (2011) Completed Kokoda

Nigel Aylott Relay – Romsey - 2012

No. 10 John Hand Species: Michelinus Manus Nickname: Job		Comments Little recent information is available about this huge man who has taken the 2012 AV season off to focus on riding and swimming. Reports from the pool suggest that he remains very buoyant. His fartlek tans seem to be quicker than his flatout tans and he remains a thirsty enigma wrapped in a riddle.	Recent Performances Tan – 13:58 Almost squeezed into his wetsuit Drank 12 pints as though they were water
No 11 Rory Heddles Species: InfodayusOfmuchp ainus Nick: Racer		Comments Finally starting to put together some solid training, Racer has come on in leaps and bounds in recent times on the way to his debut MM2012. Has been known to go out hard and blow up, captains should put a tight leash on him until the afternoon. Has yet to step off during a relay.	Recent Performances Tan – 13:59 Half – 1:25:46
No. 12 Dale Nardella Species: DoreenusResidentu s Nickname: Rafa		Comments Another MM2012 debutante who is hitting good form at the right time. Will not like being seeded below Racer after having his measure at Burnley. Dead heat over the Tan, expect a ding dong battle between the two all day.	Recent Performances Tan – 13:59 Half – 1:25:27
